Don't Miss Dr. Dena Goffman, MD, FACOG—NYSIM Frank and Sarah Olson Visiting Professor on March 31, 2015

NYSIM is pleased to announce that Dr. Dena Goffman will be leading a workshop entitled “Collaborative Teams: Optimizing Patient Care and Outcomes” as well as a grand rounds entitled “Fostering Obstetric Simulation & Safety Initiatives Through Collaboration” on Tuesday March 31, 2015 at NYSIM. Dena Goffman, MD, FACOG, is currently an Associate Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology & Women’s Health at Albert Einstein College of Medicine and Director of Maternal Safety & Simulation at Montefiore Medical Center. She has a strong interest in improving patient safety and quality in obstetrics. Much of her work focuses on the use of simulation, team training and implementation of evidence based guidelines to achieve this goal. Although her clinical background is in Obstetrics & Gynecology, Dr. Goffman’s workshop and grand rounds will be widely applicable to other disciplines as she has participants think critically about implementation of new team training initiatives or augmentation of existing programs as well the role of simulation to help achieve common patient safety goals and objectives.

If you are interested in attending one or both workshops kindly RSVP at NYSIM@nyumc.org.

NYSIM Associate Nursing Director Presented at the National Network for Associate Degree in Respiratory Care (NN2RC) Conference

Grace Ng, Associate Nursing Director at NYSIM was an invited speaker at the annual NN2RC conference in Louisville, KY in March. She presented her talk, titled: Strengthening Programs Through Simulation: Myths and Reality, to approximately 30 respiratory care faculty and program leaders from around the country.
