NYSIM hosts visiting fellows from Singapore General Hospital

NYSIM had the pleasure of hosting two international visiting fellows in August. Ms. Kok Pei Lai, RN and Ms. Lu Ruli, RN, nurse educators for Peri-op and Peri-Anesthesia nursing at Singapore General Hospital (SGH), came to us for a three week fellowship in August. During their time at NYSIM, Ms. Kok and Ms. Lu attended our three-day NYSIM Instructor Course, and worked with Grace Ng to develop simulation-based courses on preventing operating room acquired pressure ulcers, as well as nursing management of difficult airways for the Peri-op RNs. They plan to implement the newly developed courses back home in SGH.

NYSIM welcomes our first NYSIM-Hearst Foundation Nursing and Allied Health Simulation Fellow

We are thrilled that Halley Ruppel, MS, RN, CCRN joined the NYSIM team as the NYSIM-Hearst Foundation Nursing and Allied Health Simulation Fellow since September 8th. Concurrent to her fellowship, Ms. Ruppel also holds the role of clinical resource nurse in the Pediatrics Congenital Cardiovascular Care Unit at Tisch. She will be spending two days per week at NYSIM for the next 12 months working with Grace Ng and the NYSIM team on curriculum and leadership development. Welcome Halley! NYSIM is the proud sponsor of one of the first nursing simulation fellowships in the world.

Research is represented on new NYSIM web site: www.NYSIMCenter.org/research

The newly designed NYSIM web site has a page for research. On this page, one can find references to recent publications by NYSIM, CUNY and NYU faculty, staff and collaborators. We are hoping to make this page more complete and more useful.
